

PhDs in Yeast Biotechnology

12 Early Stage Researcher (ESR) positions are now available in the Marie Skłodowska-Curie Actions European Joint Doctoral Programme YEASTDOC

What we offer:

- A mentored PhD research project in a leading European Yeast Biotechnology Centre
- Joint registration for a PhD at a two top level European Universities
- Secondment to the industrial sector
- A comprehensive training programme
- A 36 month contract on EU Marie Curie rates (€37,320k/pa + mobility allowance)

What we require:

- An MSc degree in microbiology, biochemistry, biotechnology or similar discipline
- Demonstrated track record of motivation and high academic achievement
- Ability to work independently and in a team environment
- Compliance with EU Marie Curie ITN eligibility requirements (see <https://yeastdoc.eu/>)
- Willingness to undertake secondments and training with different partners
- Excellent English language skills

Further details about YEASTDOC, a description of the PhD research projects, eligibility criteria and application details can be found on the YEASTDOC website

Closing date for applications: on or before Monday 13th November, 2017